Kodak Alaris Expands Partnership with DocIt

BY NEIL TRIM ON 25TH JANUARY 2024

Kodak Alaris and Dublin-based Docit have announced an expanded partnership. Building on its relationship to date, Docit, a longstanding reseller of document scanners from Kodak Alaris, will double down on the growth of the information capture specialist's intelligent document processing (IDP) offerings.

Kodak Alaris has enjoyed a solid growth trajectory within the IDP space through its adjacent offerings, including KodakInfo Input Solution, the INfuse Smart Connected Scanning Solution, and related professional services. The company also announced its commitment to supporting its channel partners' capabilities in IDP to ensure their customers are reaping the full benefits of its advanced technologies.

In November 2023, Keypoint Intelligence awarded Kodak Alaris two Buyers Lab (BLI) Awards – a 2024 Fall Pick Award for Info Input Solution as Outstanding Intelligent Document Processing Solution, and a 2024-2025 Pacesetter Award for Excellence as a Capture & IDP Partner. Analyst house IDC also evaluated the company's solutions, strategies, and capabilities in the IDP market, resulting in Kodak Alaris being named a 'Major Player' in the IDC MarketScape: Worldwide Intelligent Document Processing (IDP) Software 2023-2024 Vendor Assessment (doc #US49988723, November 2023).

Graham Etherington, Northern Cluster Solutions Sales Director at Kodak Alaris, said: "Docit is a trusted and valued partner, and we are excited about the new expanded partnership. Both companies are specialists in information management and have a shared vision to simplify businesses' document workflows – in areas including accounts payable, accounts receivable, records management and forms processing – with intelligent automation solutions that accelerate digital transformation and innovation."
